What It Means to Be a Student of the Game Being a student of the game means you're not doing things your way anymore. You're doing it the way it’s laid out. That means you follow instructions exactly as they are given—word for word, step by step. Nothing extra. Nothing skipped. Why? Because every move you make from this point on matters. Your growth depends on your discipline, your structure, and how well you commit to the process. If you're here to learn, then learn. Don’t assume. Don’t improvise. Don’t cherry-pick what feels good. You’re here to follow the game. That’s what separates those who elevate from those who stay stuck.

Everything is written out clearly, and nothing here is designed to confuse you. But you must meet me halfway. You can't halfway commit and expect full results. You can't casually show up and think you'll transform. The only way this works is if you dedicate yourself to the structure. This means following every direction that's written out for you. If it says step 1, you do step 1—not step 3 because it "feels right." This process is laid out in numeric order—that means 1, 2, 3, 4... not out of sequence, not skipping around, not doing things based on how you feel. You're not here to feel, you're here to grow

THE BID

FOLLOW THESE 3 STEPS DIRECTLY

If you're ready to be a student of the game, you're gonna have to learn your bid. This is a light bid.
This isn't the main one. But this bid is gonna help you change the way you talk to women just by following these three steps.

01

STEP ONE

Say 'Excuse me' because you're interrupting the woman. Then introduce yourself.

02

STEP TWO

Get her name by saying 'and yours.' That way you are leading the conversation. Once you get her name, say: "The reason why I came over here is because I wanna take you on a date sometime.'

03

STEP THREE

Call me.

If you have your band, you can tap it and give her your business card.

If she says, 'I don't take numbers,' say, 'Give me yours.'

If she says, 'Let's exchange IGs,' exchange IGs.

This section ties into your coaching, and it also ties into the product. Follow these steps directly.
